◆ TYPE OF PRESENTATION PROPOSED
(You will choose one.)

- ORAL PRESENTATION — Your abstract is limited to 400 words. The person submitting the abstract will be considered the primary contact. The SSSS Scientific Program Co-Chairs will group the oral presentations by topic. Your presentation will be 15 minutes, including Q&A. Based on the peer review, you may be offered an alternate presentation type.

- SYMPOSIUM — Your abstract is limited to 1,500 words. A Symposium session is organized by the presenters to facilitate cross-institution and cross-discipline collaboration. Symposia are one hour, including Q&A. The person submitting the abstract will be considered the primary contact. You'll need to submit:
  - the entire symposium proposal (as a single submission), to include a brief description of the overall symposium, plus all of the abstracts [including title(s), author(s), and description(s)] for each individual presentation in your symposium. Do not submit abstracts for a symposium as individual oral presentations.
  - at least two observable and measurable learning objectives
  - at least five references to your abstracts
  - CVs for all authors and co-authors
  - a brief description of the form of training method that will be used in teaching the program content.

Not all symposia submissions may be accepted, and they will NOT be considered for an alternative presentation type. The symposia field is competitive, and symposium submissions that facilitate cross-institution and cross-discipline collaboration are preferred.
• CONTINUING EDUCATION SESSION / WORKSHOP — Your abstract is limited to 400 words. The person submitting the abstract will be considered the primary contact. CE presenters must have expertise and competence in the areas in which they will teach. Expertise can be demonstrated by a combination of relevant educational experience, teaching experience, clinical experience, and/or publications in the areas being taught. All proposals for CE sessions are reviewed by the SSSS CE Committee. You will need to submit:
  • the abstract
  • at least two observable and measurable learning objectives
  • at least five references to your abstract
  • CVs for all authors and co-authors
  • a brief description of the training method that will be used.

CE sessions are one hour, including Q&A. Not all submissions to the CE category may be accepted. Based on the peer review, you may be offered an alternate presentation type.

• BRIEF COMMUNICATION — Your abstract is limited to 400 words. The person submitting the abstract will be considered the primary contact. Brief Communication sessions are oral presentations, limited to five minutes and five slides. The idea is to give attendees a brief snapshot of a study, an idea, or a concept that will ignite discussion and dialogue throughout the Conference. Based on the peer review, you may be offered an alternate presentation type.

• POSTER PRESENTATION — Your abstract is limited to 400 words. The person submitting the abstract will be considered the primary contact. A poster presentation allows the presenter(s) to discuss their research in an interactive way. A Poster session is 1 hour. Based on the peer review, you may be offered alternate presentation type.
